

EXECUTIVE POWER AND LOCAL GOVERNMENT – INSTITUTIONAL CAPACITY

Yanka Gospodinova

Abstract: The article analyzes the reliance of “small municipalities” on the effectiveness of public administration. The influence of the low management capacity of the executive power on the local self-government and the opportunities for sustainable development of the municipalities is substantiated. The negative impact on national security of the resource deficit of local government is also noted.

Key words: security, local self-government, sustainable development, institutional capacity.