

USE OF SPECIAL INTELLIGENCE MEASURES FOR CORRUPTION CRIMES IN PROTECTION OF NATIONAL SECURITY

Ognyan Stoichkov

Abstract: The publication contains several main focuses: first, corruption crimes as a basis for the use of special intelligence measures, secondly corruption as a threat to national security and thirdly, up-to-date regulatory decisions in an institutional organisation to counter, detect and investigate these crimes. As a result of the analysis and evaluation carried out, problematic areas of implementation of the legislation are identified and recommendations are made in conclusion to improve it.

Key words: special intelligence measures, corruption crimes, national security.