

BULGARIAN-ROMANIAN MILITARY – POLITICAL RELATIONS OVER THE YEARS

Major General Todor Dotchev
Commandant Rakovski National Defence

Bulgarian-Romanian military-political relations are formed and developed in the process of the centuries-long co-existence and brotherhood of Bulgarians and Romanians and their countries. The close historical fate of the two peoples determines their feeling of common sympathy and relations. Often the two nations fight together against one enemy and help each other in the struggle for survival and independence during periods of severe trials.
